

Subject Line: 2016 SBIR/STTR Innovation Summit located in Austin, TX

The 2016 Austin SBIR/STTR Innovation Summit, being held November 29 through December 1st, 2016, in Austin, TX, is a regional opportunity for small innovative firms, researchers, innovators, and technologist.

The event, which showcases innovators, and facilitates connections with Energy, Cyber, Medical, Materials, and Systems technology investors, is co-located with the Defense Energy Innovation Summit & Showcase, and will feature national and state based innovation leaders and stakeholders, including representatives from all 11 SBIR Agencies.

As you know, the SBIR/STTR programs annually provides $2.5 billion in non-dilutive research and development funding to thousands of American based entrepreneurs, and the Austin Innovation Summit provides an opportunity for you to identify linkages to this funding pipeline, and meet one-on-one with funding decision makers.

Additional conference highlights include:

- One-on-One Meetings with Agency Decision Makers
- Optional pre-conference SBIR Proposal and Accounting Workshops
- Sessions featuring Investment Leaders, DoD Primes, and Agency Leadership
- Regional Innovation Ecosystem Leaders, including those running Innovation Clusters, Incubators, Accelerators, University Tech Transfer. and other technology based startup organizations.

Review the complete conference agenda and register today at <http://defenseinnovation.us/sbir.html>.